LIVING IN FEAR OF VIGILANTES

By CHRIS MOSS
mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUPLE fear they have been put in danger after their home was targeted by vigilantes who mistakenly believed a drug dealer was living in their flat.

Graham and June Barker awoke on Tuesday morning to find the front door of their home in Parsonage Leys, Harlow, covered in vomit, urine and graffiti which included a name and the ominous warning 'The Beginning'.

The culprits had also sprayed vomit through the letterbox and on to the walls and carpet.

The Barkers then discovered that crude posters repeating the malicious allegations and signed 'Concerned Parent', had been tacked to the front doors of neighbouring flats and distributed around The Stow. Cars parked along their street had similar notes placed under windscreen wipers.

But the name scrawled across the couple's front door and on the posters was not that of Mr Barker (54), who is convinced he was targeted by mistake.

Fearful of further attacks and desperate to clear his name, the worried electrician contacted the Star to protest his innocence.

"This was a cruel case of mistaken identity," he said. "This gang of vigilantes probably thought they were doing some good but they got the wrong flat. Now I'm worried that we've been put in real danger.

"You can't imagine what it was like to wake up and find that filth all over your front door. My heart just sank.

"What if they come back and next time it's petrol they put through the letterbox? I just can't believe this has happened to us, it's terrifying."

Essex Police confirmed that Mr Barker was not suspected of any wrongdoing and are investigating the damage to the property.

"This would seem to be a case of mistaken identity that has caused great upset to those targeted," a police spokeswoman told the Star.

"If anybody has any information regarding the incident they should contact their local police station or call 0300 333 4444."

20 local names on BNP members list

THE identities of 20 members of the right-wing British National Party living in and around the Harlow area were revealed this week when their details were included in a leaked list posted on the internet.

The document gives the names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses and, in some cases, occupations of all those who were registered with, or donated, to the party last year.

Of the 20 local members included on the list, 11 lived in Harlow, two in Roydon, two in Sawbridgeworth and five in Epping.

They included a firefighter, a retired historian and teacher, an airline pilot and a plumber. Seven were also listed as being party activists, the youngest of whom was just 17.

Following the leak, Harlow's Conservative parliamentary candidate Rob Halfon told the Star he was "shocked and appalled" by the revelations.

"I'm very upset to learn that 20 local people are members of the BNP," he said. "It's a shameful organisation and despicable in its aims.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell agreed, adding: "While of course anyone has the right to join any political party they wish, I absolutely reject the racist and often violent policies which underpin the values of the BNP and I call on others to do the same."

Thugs attack dad in front of his son

A MAN had his jaw broken in two places when he was attacked in front of his son for refusing to buy alcohol for teenage thugs.

The assault took place as the 40-year-old victim was shopping in Staple Tye at 7.40pm on Saturday night.

Police say he was walking near mini-mart Local Shop when he was approached by a gang who asked him to buy them drink.

When he refused they argued with him and he was struck in the face, causing him to fall to the ground. He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment to his injuries.

The boy thought to be responsible for the assault is said to be aged 15-16 and was wearing a grey hooded top with a blue top underneath and jeans.

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A spokesman for the Harlow Community Alcohol Partnership Campaign, which involves Harlow Council, Essex Trading Standards and Essex Police and is currently working to crack down on underage alcohol sales and consumption in the town, described the incident as shocking.

"The man should be praised for his refusal to buy them alcohol and no-one deserves to be hit in the face for it," said a spokesman. "We hope this doesn't put people off refusing to buy alcohol for other underage people."

The Community Alcohol Partnership is actively implementing a number of operations that are aimed at reducing both under-age access to alcohol and consumption in public places. It is hoped this work will help reduce the likelihood of a similar incident happening again.

"Young people need to be aware that drinking alcohol could put them in extreme danger," the spokesman added.

● THE attack was the third violent crime to occur in Harlow during a six-day period.

Police are seeking witnesses after a 20-year-old woman was pinned down by three white men and robbed of her mobile phone in Copshall Close at 9.25pm last Monday.

Two men are also being sought after a man was robbed of cash at knife-point in Pyenest Road, Harlow, at 3am on Thursday.

Any one with information about any of the incidents should call Harlow police station on 0300 333444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Cable repair cuts power to homes

SCORES of homes were left without power after workmen damaged an underground electricity cable.

People living in parts of Kingsmoor Road, Milwards, Southern Way and Watersmeet, Harlow found themselves in the dark for several hours on Monday while engineers worked to fix the cable.

The damage was caused at 11am and engineers cut the power to homes throughout the afternoon to allow repair work to take place.

They worked through the evening to replace the damaged section and restored supplies to all properties affected by 10.30pm.

A spokeswoman for EDF Energy Networks said: "We are committed to providing a reliable supply of electricity and, in a bid to reduce the number of interruptions caused by contractors damaging underground cables, actively encourage firms undertaking work to contact us in advance for advice and cable locating maps to help them avoid our cables."

"This is vital for their own safety as well as for the security of electricity supplies."

Pudsey's netball hotshots

FITNESS fanatics turned fundraisers when they took part in a sponsored charity netball event for Children in Need.

Members of Harlow's Tegate Netball Club put their shooting prowess to the test at the Mark Hall Sports Hall to raise cash for the BBC appeal held on Friday.

And they managed to net a tidy sum for their efforts which was added to the money raised from a raffle, face painting and other activities that were on offer throughout the day. (photo: RQCZ7TPF/02)

Mum's payout for skin cancer diagnosis error

A MOTHER-of-two who was left with multiple scars from surgery after being wrongly diagnosed with skin cancer has been awarded £15,000 in compensation.

Katie Andreou (28), who lives in the Nettesswell area of Harlow, was awarded the amount in an out-of-court settlement with Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust.

Mrs Andreou had six moles removed after she was told she had malignant melanoma following surgery to remove one from her shin.

However, it later emerged the initial diagnosis was incorrect and that her pathology report – a document which forms a basis for diagnosis – was not finalised.

This week Mrs Andreou said: "The surgery that I had to remove seven moles left me with red scars, making me very self-conscious about exposing my arms and legs. The scars have now faded but the whole experience will stay with me for a very long time."

Her solicitor, James Bell, said: "Had Mrs Andreou known that her pathology slide was under review she would not have proceeded with the excision of the six other moles until a definitive diagnosis of malignant melanoma."

"The classification of the mole as a melanoma represents an unacceptable error which breached the duty of care to Mrs Andreou."

A PAH spokesman said it apologised to Mrs Andreou.

SIR, The Bill Rammell who campaigned for election to Parliament in the early 1990s was a vigorous champion for people's rights and freedoms and an opponent of the abuse of power. For him now to label such concerns as right-wing (Letters, November 6) is further evidence of how completely Labour has lost direction since its election to office in 1997.

Bill tells us that, on his last tour of duty in the Foreign Office, he was reassured that officials were aware of the allegations about abuses at Abu Ghraib. Yet several months later Tony Blair told Parliament he had known nothing about it.

Meanwhile, the Law Lords' recent ruling against allowing the Chagos Islanders to return home to Diego Garcia is a tragic decision. Since the Chagossians were turfed out of their homeland decades ago to make room for American military activity, successive governments – including this one – have treated them scandalously despite opposition from the United Nations.

Instead of welcoming this decision, Bill and his Labour colleagues should be enabling these people to return home. They should also come clean about the rendition activity on these islands and elsewhere where British soil has been used for US flights transferring terror suspects to countries that use torture.

The landslide victory of Barack Obama in the recent presidential election at least offers hope of change in American foreign policy, but we shouldn't have to wait for the American election results before Labour finds its moral compass. These things aren't about left and right, Bill. They're about right and wrong.

Councillor Lorna Spenceley
Spring Hills, Harlow

Betrayal of principles

SIR, I know we shouldn't be surprised at the hypocrisy of politicians but Bill Rammell's latest letter accusing the Liberal Democrats of taking a step to the right and out-Torying the Tories is ridiculous (Letters, November 6).

He knows I oppose any such shift to the right but it is his so-called New Labour government which has moved all political debate to the right and betrayed all the principles his party ever had. It would take a massive Lib Dem leap to place them right of the New Labour let alone the Conservative Party.

He claims his first priority has been Harlow but I beg to disagree. Instead of being the town's representative in Parliament holding the Government to account he has accepted ministerial office and in doing so has sold his freedom to vote against the Government on any major issue, despite the criticisms of such policies by the Harlow electorate he claims to represent.

Among other things this has resulted in him voting for the Iraq war and against an independent investigation of Government deception at its outset, voting against an elected House of Lords, voting in favour of attempts to remove basic civil liberties which we have enjoyed for centuries and to introduce ID cards which will be open to computer loss now common in Government and, finally, voting in favour of non-democratic foundation hospitals and student top-up fees.

He has supported the Government's failure to provide sufficient money to local councils instead of non-democratic quangos and has remained uncritical whilst the rich have been allowed to become richer and the poor to become poorer, so that the gap between them is now greater than ever since Victorian times.

He claims that his being in the upper levels of Government has allowed him more influence to get things done for Harlow. So this is how New Labour government is managed – who you know is more important than need! Well that's honest at least, though I for one have not seen much benefit to Harlow.

Rev Dennis Nadin
Willowfield, Harlow

Bypass dream

SIR, County councillor Paul Sztumpf has now confirmed that the Green Belt north of Harlow is to be sacrificed to concrete as the case for a Harlow bypass would be "weaker without the new Harlow North development" (Letters, November 13).

No more pretence then that Harlow North is needed to meet local housing need; we need 25,000 houses and an extra 30,000 cars on the roads to make the case for a bypass. I am not sure of that logic or how it fits with the Government's targets for reducing CO₂ emissions but what the heck.

Cllr Sztumpf also acknowledges that this Government cannot afford the infrastructure demanded by its own regional plan. He suggests Harlow North brings a clear priority to the Cut speed to prevent a tragedy

Time to take a positive approach to road safety

SIR, With reference to your article "Cut speed to prevent a tragedy" (Star, November 6), when will Essex County Council's highways department introduce more positive criteria for speed reduction than numbers of serious accidents?

Unfortunately, moving the 30mph speed limit further up Harlow Road, Roydon, does not affect the speed at East End. We are a community of 20 houses on the western edge of Harlow.

There are two farm turnings, a dangerous corner, a dangerous layby, bends and driveways, difficult verges for walkers, a considerable volume of fast traffic and no speed limit. Families with pushchairs, cyclists and walkers are very seriously disadvantaged.

We want the county council to have practical policies for encouraging walking, cycling and safe driving along our roads, not just taking action after serious accidents have occurred.

Sally Naylor, chairwoman
East End Roydon Road Residents' Association
Roydon Road, Harlow

list of transport needs within the region.

EERA is discussing a long list of demands from across the region – 38 new schemes have been submitted for funding over the next five years – but the Harlow bypass is not even on this list. The total cost of these submitted schemes is £1bn but there is only around £600m available over the next 10, not five, years. That's simply not enough.

A Harlow bypass is somewhere on another future wish list of a further 60 schemes and is estimated will cost £200m alone. Not to worry as we are told by Cllr Sztumpf that the developer might contribute. I hate to tell him but Ropemakers have said that they have not committed to fund specific infrastructure.

So we are told we need to accept the housing to get a bypass but one isn't likely very soon. Didn't Bill Rammell and all the council leaders say that infrastructure needs to be in place before or at the same time as the houses or was that just a dream as well?

Nigel Clark, secretary, STOP Harlow North

Magical day

SIR, All too soon people write to complain about something not going well. I am writing to you on behalf of the Harlow CAB Dedication Dove Appeal volunteers to express our sincere appreciation on the exceptionally well run Christmas lights celebrations in the town on Sunday.

The whole atmosphere seemed magical. We thought last year's celebrations had been good but these were exceptional.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to all involved as it must have taken a great deal of planning, foresight and preparation to pull off such an event.

We would also like to thank Katie Dorling and Clayton Neal for their valued assistance as part of their Citizenship Community Homework Programme – those extra pairs of hands were very much appreciated.

My stay in Tye Green ward was in a clean, friendly environment and was as pleasant as it could be under the circumstances.

Facebook pair lead Baby P protest

A MOTHER and daughter from Harlow are the driving force behind plans to stage a huge demonstration in London to demand the sacking of the social workers involved in the case of Baby P, the tragic tot who was tortured to death.

Stacey Francis (21), of Milwards, Harlow, and her mother Mandy (51), formerly of Barn Mead, were so sickened by reports of what happened to the toddler they have used the social networking website Facebook to organise a protest march from Millbank to Hyde Park next month.

They are calling for the dismissal of the Haringey Council officials and social workers who they say failed in their duty to protect him and also of medical staff who did not realise the 17-month-old was being abused, despite him having more than 50 injuries including a broken back.

The couple hope to persuade tens of thousands of people to take part in the protest, which is due to start at 11.30am on December 13 – two days before two men and Baby P's mum are sentenced for their involvement in his death.

They also plan to hand in a petition to Prime Minister Gordon Brown appealing for his intervention to ensure justice is done.

Mandy told the Star: "Being mums ourselves, my daughter and I were absolutely horrified at the way that poor child was abused."

"That's why we decided to arrange a protest calling for justice to be done. We want all those who could have put a stop to the abuse to be sacked immediately."

"We're also hoping to set up a charity to help other victims of child abuse avoid the same fate as Baby P but we need local businesses to step forward and help us with donations."

Baby P died in August 2007. During the Old Bailey court case of his mother, her boyfriend and their lodger the court was told he died after eight months of being treated like a punchbag.

The case has revealed a mass of blunders by social workers and health workers in Haringey, the same council involved in the case of eight-year-old Victoria Climbié who was killed by her great-aunt and her partner in 2000.

Anyone wanting to join the march can contact Mrs Francis by sending an email to francis-familyuk@yahoo.co.uk.

Rammell quizzes council over 'lost' garage rents

COUNCIL chiefs are being urged to maximise the use of garage space by Harlow's MP after he was contacted by a constituent who tried for almost a year to rent one.

Bill Rammell said the garage in Upper Mealines was advertised as available despite needing extensive repair work which he claimed the council said would take seven days to fix. However, it is still standing empty as the work has not been carried out.

Mr Rammell now wants to know how much money the council is losing in rent.

"My constituent is willing to pay to rent the garage and all the time since the council advertised the garage as available is lost money. I have asked the council to set out how much money has been lost in rent by failure to carry out the repairs within the originally specified seven days."

"During these difficult economic times the council must do everything it can to maximise its assets and put the most funds it can into those services which people need, however small."

A council spokesman said it could not comment on the specific case Mr Rammell had highlighted but added: "The resident would be offered another vacant garage in the same area if a garage was unavailable for any reason."

Dedicate a tree light to help hospice care

HARLOW residents will get a chance to dedicate a light in memory of a loved one at a special service on Sunday.

St Clare Hospice will be holding its Light Up A Life event at St Andrew's Methodist Church in The Stow at 4pm.

It provides an opportunity to remember a loved one by dedicating a Christmas tree light to celebrate the lives of a family member or friend who has passed away.

Hospice spokesman Tony Smith said: "By dedicating a symbolic light you can help us to care for our patients and support their families as your thoughts of a loved one and of a lifetime shared evoke memories of a face, or words or a smile."

To dedicate a light, contact the hospice on (01279) 773750

CHRISTMAS STARS: Former EastEnders actress Michelle Gayle and Gladiator Trojan, who will both be appearing in this year's Playhouse panto, with Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall and his wife Maureen

Let there be light

THOUSANDS of people turned out to watch the biggest Christmas lights switch-on Harlow has ever staged.

Former EastEnders actress Michelle Gayle and Gladiator Trojan, who will both star in this year's Playhouse panto, shared the stage with Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall and other local dignitaries to switch on the display in front of an estimated 4,000 people in Market Square on Sunday.

Fake snow then fell and fireworks lit up the sky as the afternoon of entertainment, which included a glowstick parade and live music, came to a close.

Town centre manager Richard Dennerly, who helped organise the event with backing from local sponsors, said: "The people of Harlow really showed their support for the town at the start of this Christmas shopping season and the organisers and sponsors are very grateful for that."

Political activist and former councillor dies

FORMER Harlow councillor Bill Hanley has died at the age of 89.

Mr Hanley, who was born in Dundee and served in the Royal Army Pay Corps during the Second World War, passed away at his East Park home on Thursday. He was well known for holding strong left-wing views and met his wife, Wilhelmina, at a socialist camp in Holland in 1947.

After living there for several years they returned to Britain and he obtained work as a clerk in the Port of London. They moved to Harlow in 1957.

Mr Hanley was an active supporter of the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament and the Independent Labour Party, standing as a candidate the party in a Parliamentary by-election in Leyton in 1965.

In 1980 he joined the Labour Party and was elected as local councillor, holding various posts including chairman of the housing committee and the Latton Bush Area Committee.

For a number of years he served as a trustee and governor of Fawbert and Barnard School in Old Harlow and remained in touch with the school even after his retirement. He set up an annual prize in memory of his wife, a teacher at the school, after she died in 1968.

In more recent years health problems confined him to his home but he continued to follow political events meticulously.

He is survived by his son and daughter-in-law, Bill and Bridget Hanley, and their twin daughters, Lucy and Kirsty, who live in north Derbyshire.

Outdoor centre to scale new heights

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsexnews.co.uk

AFTER an 11-month wait, Harlow finally has one of the UK's top climbing facilities after a massive cash injection transformed its outdoor pursuits centre.

The finishing touches have been put to the £1.6m revamp and the centre, in Burnt Mill Lane, will be open to the public next week.

The centrepiece of the project, details of which were first revealed by the Star last December, is a new 13.5m (44ft) high climbing wall covering 1,000 sq m (10,764 sqft). It is the largest of its kind in the south east.

As well as the climbing wall the centre will now run a variety of land-based pursuits and activities including high and low ropes, scramble net, mountain biking, mountain boarding, problem solving, orienteering and archery.

It will also make the most of its location on the banks of the River Stort, by continuing to offer kayaking, canoeing, raft building and dragon boating.

Another addition to the building is a coffee shop for visitors.

The refurbishment, funded jointly

HIGH AND MIGHTY:

by Essex County Council and the National Lottery, marks a major turnaround for the centre which was threatened with the axe last year as part of a County Hall cost-cutting drive.

This week county councillor Simon Walsh, cabinet member for families, said he was delighted the centre had been improved. "It is a fantastic facility for families, offering a fun range of activities in a safe, enjoyable environment," he said.

Centre manager Colin Urquhart said: "Essex County Council's outdoor education service is so proud that we are opening such a great facility here in Harlow."

"The climbing wall is the biggest in the south east and I can't wait to see children and adults alike having a go and discovering a passion for climbing. It is fantastic for developing strength, balance and movement but it also requires real focus

"Of course there is more to the centre than the climbing wall and I'd encourage everyone to come down and find out more about our clubs and activity days."

Plant a tree campaign needs help to bear fruit

ENVIRONMENTALLY-friendly Harlow residents are being asked to pull on their gardening gloves and help plant 2,000 trees in the town as part of a major project to improve conditions for the county's wildlife.

Harlow Council staff and volunteers will be planting a hedgerow around ponds at Timberland Fishery in Pinnacles to provide food and shelter for birds and mammals.

But they want more volunteers to help with the task which is being completed as part of Essex County Council's pledge to plant 250,000 trees in the county.

Eddie Johnson, chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, said: "This is an ideal opportunity for people to do something which will benefit wildlife for many years to come.

"If you plant a tree you'll help many future generations of wildlife and give lots of enjoyment to lots of people."

Volunteers who want to take part in the hedgerow project should meet in the car park at the fishery in Flex Meadow next Wednesday (November 26) at 10am or turn up anytime from 10am-3pm.

More information is available by telephoning Glenn Mulleady on (01279) 430005.

Anger at plan to axe charity shop

KEEP IT OPEN:

A CHILDREN'S charity has caused anger by announcing it will close its popular town centre store next year.

Action for Children, which has premises in East Walk, will shut up shop for good next June after deciding to refocus efforts and investment on other forms of fundraising and community-based support services.

But the decision has not gone down well with staff and customers, who have organised a petition to save it from the axe.

Manager Steve Hennessey, who has run the shop for more than six years with the help of volunteers, told the Star that people were angry

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

and upset over the closure.

"No-one could believe it when we heard," he said. "Some of the volunteers we've got have worked here for over 20 years; they were so upset and I really feel for them.

"I could perhaps understand them wanting to close us down if we weren't making a profit but this store has always done very well and to close it would mean the charity loses a very visible presence in Harlow."

A spokeswoman for the charity, which was formerly known as NCH (National Children's Home) until September, said all 36 of its shops across the UK would be closing after a survey revealed each branch was making an average weekly profit of just £154.

"We believe [the closures] will enable Action for Children to refocus our funds and efforts on more core activities that make a demonstrable and positive difference to the lives of children, young people and their families across the UK," she added.

"We would like to thank all of our staff and volunteers who have supported Action for Children through our retail outlets.

"We are currently doing all that we can to find alternative opportunities for those who would like to continue being involved with the organisation or the sector."

Contractors step in to fix elderly couple's faulty tap

AN elderly couple who were left high and dry when they were told by Harlow Council that it would not repair a faulty tap in their bathroom now have running water.

As reported in the Star two weeks ago, Derek and Julie Woolnough, of Greenhills, were informed that council contractors Kier Harlow were not permitted to carry out the plumbing task.

But just days after the article appeared the couple were visited by workmen who replaced the faulty tap free of charge.

"It seems as though someone somewhere in the council has got a guilty conscience," said Mr Woolnough (74). "We were amazed when they turned up to fix the tap after being told in no uncertain terms it wasn't part of their remit."

However, a council spokeswoman claimed to have no knowledge of the work being carried out.

A Kier Harlow spokeswoman said: "The council is correct in that tenants must usually carry out their own minor repairs. However, on this occasion the issue was found to be slightly more complex than a washer replacement and, therefore, we have fixed the tap."

Medical centre wins award for innovation

A MEDICAL centre in Epping has been named Practice of the Year at an awards ceremony.

The Limes Medical Centre, in The Plain, won the title for improving patient access by creating a system that prioritises people based on their condition.

Practice director Debbie Bodhanya said: "It is recognition of all the work we've been doing around the access project and it's a nice boost and a morale-lifter for our team."

GP Judith Harvey, who helped judge the Management in Practice competition held in Birmingham, said: "We were looking for a practice that was thinking outside the tickbox and had done something innovative."

Sporting event was all for Norway

AFTER posing the question 'Do you remember 1963 Sportcentre day?' in Nostalgia a few weeks ago I have received correspondence which may be able to shed some light on the event pictured.

Local history officer David Devine contacted us to say he recognised the picture.

"The event at the Sportcentre was part of what was known as 'Norway Week' in July 1963, the dates of which were July 26 to August 5," he writes. It was part of the friendship links Harlow had with the Norwegian town of Stavanger.

"The photograph you published is one of a set of photographs we have at The Museum of Harlow covering the occasion. It shows a band and a number of women celebrating 'Queen of Light'."

DANCING may be enjoying something of a renaissance with twinkle-toed celebrities hitting the floor in various televised competitions, but in the 1950s Harlow was creating its own TV dance stars courtesy of Harlequin dance hall.

The centre, in The Stow, is now a snooker club but in its day, and under the watchful eye of dance club organisers Tina and Jimmy Fellows, youngsters made a name for themselves in the ultra-competitive world of dance, winning the All British Rock And Roll Championships which was aired on ITV.

John Teahan (68), of The Downs, Harlow, was one of the Harlequin Teenagers who strutted their stuff in front of the cameras to win the title in 1957 or '58.

"It was brilliant, my mum and dad were so proud," he said. "After that we did the 6.5 Special on the BBC. We went to the studios and met Michael Holliday and all the stars; it was quite exciting for us at that age."

Former Teddy Boy Mr Teahan joined the Harlequin dance troupe when he was 17 and left when the club closed in 1959, walking away with its coveted 'Rock And Roll' title which he won with his partner Maureen

He added: "The Harlequin was the place to socialise and it was the in thing for the kids in those days."

COACHES IN FIRING LINE

Pellets from an airgun smashed windows in two coaches, causing nearly £300 of damage. The Golden Boy coaches were both travelling along Elizabeth Way when two airgun pellets smashed a nearside window in the first coach, causing £80 of damage. The other pellet smashed a rear lower-deck window, causing £200 of damage.

BLAZE WRECKS FAMILY HOME

A heartbroken family are faced with a bleak Christmas after fire ripped through their bungalow at Honeyhill, Harlow. Expensive video equipment and Christmas presents were reduced to ashes in the blaze which started at lunchtime on Sunday.

PRINT ROOM DISPUTE ENDS

A two-week dispute in the print room of Harlow Council has been settled. Four members of staff have been disciplined following problems in the operation of the room.

MUSIC FEST AROUND GROTT

More than 1,000 people went to hear the sounds of Christmas in the Harvey Centre on Sunday and joined in the fun of the grand music festival, which raised over £100 for five local charities.

Strategy to focus on housing needs

A PLAN detailing how housing chiefs will improve the condition and provision of social housing in Harlow is a step nearer to fruition.

The five-year strategy is designed to address challenges the council faces in meeting the housing need and ensuring its properties comply with the Government's Decent Homes Standard.

The 74-page document also outlines a number of ongoing and new objectives to tackle issues including reducing the number of homes standing empty and providing a housing service that delivers value for money.

Members of the council's housing committee agreed the document on Thursday. It will now be the subject of public consultation before returning to the committee in March for approval.

There are currently 7,000 people on the authority's housing register. The council has a housing stock of just under 10,000 homes and only 50-60 homes at any one time are available for re-letting.

Housing committee chairman Joshua Jolles said: "The priority is to tackle the growing housing need in the town. The important issues are that a range of new affordable homes are provided and the condition of Harlow's housing stock, not only council homes, is improved.

"We also need to help develop sustainable and safe communities and provide a high performing, value for money housing service."

He added that in order to achieve these aims the council will need to work in partnership with other organisations and this will form an important part of the strategy.

Smile, your NHS dentist needs you!

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HEALTH chiefs have launched a new campaign to put a smile on the faces of people sick to the back teeth of struggling to find an NHS dentist.

Dentists in Harlow have been working with the West Essex Primary Care Trust to open up the town's dental surgeries to improve accessibility for both adults and children and reassure patients that going private is not the only remedy for persistent toothache.

The trust has set a target of helping a further 10,000 people living across the district to access NHS dental care within the next financial year by providing more appointments and improving awareness. The Open For Business scheme will benefit from year-on-year investment of around £800,000.

A new helpline has been set up to provide callers with details of their nearest dental practices, opening times, costs for NHS dental treatment and what kind of treatment they can expect.

There will also be a poster and leaflet campaign targeting GP surgeries, health centres, pharmacies and even bus stops to remind members of the public of the importance of oral hygiene.

And the trust hopes the initiative will clear up some of the misconceptions about NHS dental services.

"The biggest challenge we face is in altering the public perception of dentists," said locality director Toni Coles.

"People think there is a shortage of NHS practices, they think treatments are prohibitively expensive and they think they have to register with a surgery in a particular catchment area.

"But the reality is that many practices are undersubscribed, the costs aren't anywhere near as high as people think and, unlike GP surgeries, you don't need to live within a certain area to register with a dentist."

● The helpline number to access information about NHS dental services is 0800 7833396.

Man cut free from car after collision

ONE of Harlow's main roads was closed after a collision involving a number of vehicles left one man trapped.

The accident happened opposite the Total garage close to the Templefields roundabout on Edinburgh Way last Wednesday night.

Firefighters had to use specialist cutting equipment to free the man who was trapped inside one of the vehicles.

The collision caused traffic problems resulting in tailbacks along Edinburgh Way as drivers were forced to find an alternative route.

● THREE lorries were involved in a multi-vehicle crash on the southbound carriageway of the M11 motorway between Harlow and Bishop's Stortford on Thursday.

Copycat mouse

THE idea behind the hit dinosaur film Jurassic Park might not be as far-fetched as it seems following an amazing discovery made by Japanese scientists last week.

For the first time ever, mice have been successfully cloned from dead rodents that have been frozen for 16 years.

Now the experts behind the project think they may be able to develop the technique to copy species that died out thousands of years ago such as woolly mammoths and sabre tooth tigers!

Although the process of cloning isn't new, the Japanese team discovered that as long as an animal's remains have been frozen to preserve their unique genes, it is possible to clone them.

When the mice died they were frozen in a special science lab freezer. Years later, scientists removed brain cells from the frozen specimens to take samples of their DNA - the unique pattern of cells that determines how every living creature develops.

They then injected the DNA into an egg which was implanted into a healthy living female mouse. Weeks later, lots of the cloned baby mice were born.

But not everyone thinks it's a good idea; some critics of the project are worried that cloning animals isn't safe and could cause more harm than good.

Jobless total 'not accurate'

LATEST official unemployment figures for Harlow which show as many as 2,300 people out of work are inaccurate, according to the town's MP.

Bill Rammell said the actual figure for the jobless was some 700 fewer than stated in data released by the Office for National Statistics.

He said the ONS figures pub-

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

lished last week were taken from the Labour Force Survey which, while useful for estimating numbers in larger areas, is based on a sample survey of the population and then scaled up to match the population.

"In practice this means the smaller the area, the smaller the size of the sample that the estimates are based on, and therefore the less accurate they are," he told the Star. "In statistical terms they are more prone to erratic movements due to sampling variability."

Mr Rammell said his own Government figures reflected the number of people in a particular area claiming jobseekers allowance and is the most up-to-date, accurate data for measuring levels of unemployment.

According to those figures, the unemployment total in Harlow stood at 1,643 last month, equivalent to three per cent of the town's working population.

That figure reflected a 0.7 per cent rise since 2005 but was still less than the amount of people unemployed in 1997 which stood at 1,712.

Mr Rammell attributed the rise to "economic turbulence", adding: "Anyone who says that at a time of acute economic crisis that we can protect ourselves from unemployment is deluding themselves."

He also said he welcomed the recent Government announcement that over £100m of new investment will be put aside to help retrain people who have been made redundant.

He will also push for the Government to step up its Rapid Response Service which helps workers facing a major redundancy by enhancing Jobcentre Plus services, to give real help to deal with significant redundancies when they hit local areas.

Firms miss out on £2m rate relief

BUSINESS chiefs are urging Harlow Council to launch a major campaign to encourage companies in the town to claim more than £2m owing to them each year.

The Essex branch of the Federation of Small Businesses has written a letter to the council officials highlighting the fact that almost 600 firms in the district do not claim the £3,500 business rate relief they are entitled to.

The total uncollected amount adds up to just over £2m every 12 months, money the organisation says would do better boosting Harlow's economy than sitting in Government coffers.

FSB spokeswoman Polly Weeks said: "Last year Harlow Council achieved just 20 per cent take up of small business rate relief among the eligible businesses in the district. This autumn that has gone up to 29.2 per cent which has brought an estimated extra £140,000 back to local small businesses.

"That is good news but still leaves 593 business premises in Harlow with a rateable value below £15,000 who between them could be claiming up to £2,075,500 every year."

A council spokesman said it was already doing a lot to encourage firms to claim the cash by distributing literature and working to ensure continued uptake of the rebate was ongoing.

Your NHS just keeps getting better

NHS
West Essex

West Essex NHS dentists - open for business

DENTISTS and NHS West Essex have been working together to open up dental surgeries so that more people - adults and children - can have an appointment and treatment by an NHS dentist.

A helpline, 0800 78 333 96, has been set up to help people find a local dentist. Callers can get details for their local dentists as well as opening times, costs for NHS dental treatment and what treatment they can expect.

Costs for NHS dental treatment are:

- £16.20 - includes examination, diagnosis and preventative care. It may also include x-rays, scale and polish if needed, and planning for further treatment. Urgent and out-of-hours care will also cost £16.20
- £44.60 - includes all the above plus any fillings, root canal treatment or extractions
- £198 - includes both of the above plus more complex treatments such as crowns, dentures or bridges.

It's your choice

People who need to go to hospital for treatment or care can now choose which hospital they want to go to. All west essex GPs have access to the Choose and Book system which allows people to choose the hospital or clinic they attend and book the date and time.

This choice of hospital could be one that's closer to family and friends making it easier for them to visit. Or it could be one that means being seen quicker than at a local hospital.

Kirsty Boettcher, director of strategic commissioning at NHS West Essex, said: "Choose and Book allows you to choose any hospital in England - NHS or independent - paid for by the NHS."

"If you want more time to consider your choices you can take away an appointment request letter and book later or book directly with the hospital over the phone."

There are occasions when people need to be seen more quickly, for example seeing a cancer specialist or if they have severe chest pain. The GP will send them to the place they will be seen most quickly.

The only exception to people being able to Choose and Book is when they need to see a mental health specialist or someone about a pregnancy.

Kirsty added: "Next time you visit your GP and need to be referred to a specialist talk to them about the choices available to you."

People will pay one fee even if they have to visit the dentist more than once to complete a course of treatment.

People receiving treatment from an NHS dentist will get a thorough examination of their mouth, gums and teeth. They will also get advice about oral hygiene and how to look after their teeth.

Dentists will explain fully the options available and what they can get on the NHS or what needs to be paid for privately. If people have a mix of NHS and private treatment the dentist will give them a written treatment plan which includes a clear explanation of the costs.

PCT locality director Toni Coles said: A check-up lets the dentist see if you have any problems and helps you keep your teeth and gums healthy.

"Having more appointments available means that local people have better access to an NHS dentist. We're also making it easier for people to find out where their nearest NHS dentist is and how they can make an appointment."

"This initiative is all part of the PCT's commitment to improving access to NHS Dentistry and improving peoples oral health."

Shorter waiting times for your treatment

It was not long ago that waiting months for care and treatment in hospitals was the norm. NHS West Essex has been working with local hospitals to make sure that this changes.

Now when a GP refers someone to a specialist, their care and treatment will be carried out within 18 weeks. This includes hospital appointments, tests, scans and other procedures which may be necessary.

To be seen within 18 weeks patients need to make sure they are available for appointments, tests and treatments. They will be given the opportunity to agree the date and time of their visits.

Dr Rory McCrea, NHS West Essex's medical director, said: "Nowadays patients get faster access to treatment and care meaning earlier relief of pain and discomfort."

"They have an important part to play in making sure that their treatment plan goes smoothly and without delay. When they book their first appointment they will need to make sure they are available during the 18 weeks to attend any appointments. So for example if they have a holiday or special event planned during the 18 week period they should tell their GP."

Anyone unable to attend an agreed appointment or go for their treatment should tell the hospital immediately so their appointment can be offered to someone else.

Those who do not turn up for their first appointment or who cancel should be aware that they may be sent back to their GP or might have to start the process over again.

School's turnaround is praised by Ofsted

HOLY CROSS: Staff have been celebrating after the school and pre-school secured the praise of Government watchdogs.

The Tracyes Road primary was judged to be doing well by OFSTED inspectors on a recent visit, being ranked as 'good' in seven key areas, with outstanding features.

The report concluded the school was a caring place where people feel valued which had made good progress in learning.

The report marks a significant turnaround for the school, which was in special measures just a few years ago.

Commenting on the achievement, headteacher Sue McGuiggan said: "We are delighted with this hugely positive report. This is a testament to the hard work and dedication from everyone connected with our school, the staff, governor, parents, pupils and parish."

Meanwhile, Holy Cross Pre-School celebrated after achieving 'outstanding' grades in five areas and good in two - an improvement from the last inspection which took place in 2006 and saw it achieve 'good' across the board, with one outstanding grade.

Inspectors praised staff for their attentiveness, dedication and the pre-school's varied curriculum it offers to youngsters.

Ann Tierney, head of the nursery, said: "I am extremely proud of them all and they should be proud of themselves for their continued high achievements. A big well done! It shows that we are on the right road."

Dressing up for Children In Need

CHILDREN helped raise cash for charity when they took part in a day of activities for the BBC's Children In Need appeal.

Youngsters were sponsored to dress in pyjamas at GATEWAY NURSERY, in Perry Road, Harlow, and LEAPFROG NURSERY, in Harlow Business Park, while children at KIDDI CARU, in Church Langley Way, took part in a sports-themed day for the event which saw them dress in sporting attire.

All three nurseries hope to net a tidy sum to donate towards the BBC appeal, which each year raises millions of pounds for children's charities to help brighten up the lives of disadvantaged youngsters throughout the UK.

Pets win prizes for pupils

SPINNEY INFANTS:

Animal magic was in the air when children took part in a creature competition to mark the end of a pet project.

Everything from slippery snakes to cats were brought into the school by Year 1 and 2 pupils to compete for prizes including the waggiest tail and funniest face.

Children were also expected to be experts about their pets, answering questions to prove their knowledge to judges.

Headteacher Su Playford said: "It was absolutely wonderful. The children really enjoyed themselves and it gave them a chance to cement what they had learned during the topic."

Dad's ad plea to stub it out

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoone@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LORRY driver who was persuaded to quit smoking by his 12-year-old son is hoping to get more people to kick the habit by featuring in an advertising campaign.

Paul McLoughlin (45), from Harlow, was a 40-a-day smoker until he gave up cigarettes with the help of the NHS West Essex stop smoking team after his son Liam told him he was scared by his wheezy chest.

Now he is one of the successful former smokers whose story is being told in a series of radio adverts being run by NHS West Essex to inspire more people to quit. The ads coincide with the national Smokefree campaign and portray the fears children have of their parents dying from smoking.

Mr McLoughlin, who was a smoker for 30 years, said he tried to stop on numerous occasions without success.

"I was working nights for a while and I would get back in the morning and watch a bit of news on the TV or sleep on the couch and wait for the family to get up," he said.

"One morning Liam came down and woke me because he was quite alarmed at the noise my lungs and chest were making. It was a horrible wheeze.

"To see the look on his face I thought I'd had a heart attack or something. He was so concerned."

THANKS SON: Ex-smoker Paul McLoughlin with his son Liam

Minutes after Liam woke his dad an NHS advert was shown on the television, prompting Mr McLoughlin to give the helpline a call. "Since then I haven't looked back," he said.

Katie Wallis, healthy living co-ordinator for West Essex Primary Care Trust, said: "It's a lifestyle change for people to go through and they need our support and the support of their family.

"Smokers need every bit of help they can get. It's not an easy thing for them to do.

"We would encourage everyone to give up and people are four times more likely to give up with the support of professionals than if they try to give up themselves."

Anyone wanting to give up smoking can find out more, and receive support, by ringing the stop smoking team on (01279) 827866 and speaking to a trained adviser.

Teachers will be peak performers

A GROUP of Harlow teachers are aiming high as they prepare to take part in a charity challenge which will see them climb to the top of the highest mountain in Britain.

Eight members of staff from Milwards Primary School, in Paringdon Road, have volunteered to take part in a sponsored Ben Nevis Challenge to raise funds for the Epping Breast Cancer Unit.

Headteacher Angela Callaway, Ruth Brooks, Gill Blackmore, Susan Frazer, Gill Jewell, Nikki Purcill, Katherine Kirkwood and Sarah Carless will be putting on their walking boots and trudging the 1,344 metres (4,409 ft) to the summit of the mountain next May as part of a larger team which is hoping to raise £20,000.

Five members of the Milwards group have special reasons for wanting to complete the challenge – they have battled cancer themselves and received treatment at the unit.

The money they raise will go towards new equipment, research and treatments. Some will also go to the school.

Mrs Callaway (40) said: "I have been taking regular walks to get prepared and have already climbed Ben Nevis in the summer while I was on holiday so I am very confident that I will be able to do it!"

Event organiser Lesa Spooner, who has run the Ben Nevis Challenge for the past four years, said: "It's really good we go from 30 people not really knowing anyone when they start to everyone becoming really good friends. We go out for a meal the night we get there for everyone to bond. It is a really fun weekend."

Meanwhile, Milwards School is hoping to raise £8,000 for the breast cancer care

Sporting honour

A SPORTS development programme for young children which began in Harlow has been praised for its work.

Ruggerbugs, which runs non-contact rugby for youngsters up to the age of five, was highly recommended in the Innovative Scheme of the Year 2008 category at the recent Essex Sports Awards 2008.

Director Andrew Peasey said: "I am very proud to receive this award on behalf of all at Ruggerbugs for all of the hard work that has been put in to get to this stage."

Cabaret nights

THE Swallow Churchgate Hotel in Old Harlow is hoping to build on the success of its cabaret nights by announcing its 2009 calendar of events.

General manager Gary Install said it had doubled the number of events, with some shows proving so successful they have been booked to return.

"We have also added some great new acts which are pulling in the crowds around the country," he said. "There is something here for every taste."

To request a copy of the 2009 calendar of events call (01279) 420246 or send an email to Events.churchgate@crerarmgmt.com.

In the pink

SHOP staff took sleeping on the job to the extreme when they rolled up to work in pink pyjamas as part of a fundraising day for breast cancer care campaign.

Sue Chappell, manager of Bonmarché in Harlow town centre, said: "It's great to be able to raise money to fund breast cancer research as it's an illness that affects so many people. We are glad to help."

A night at the opera in a cinema near you

By CHRIS MOSS

A NIGHT at the opera need no longer be the preserve of the rich and privileged, thanks to a pioneering broadcast experiment going for a song at a Harlow cinema.

Arts lovers on a budget can now have the best seat in the house and enjoy exclusive behind-the-scenes access to the New York Metropolitan Opera - via Cineworld, in Edinburgh Way, when it screens an entire season of operatic performances beamed live from the world-renowned venue.

Each performance is transmitted in high-definition format and boasts bonus material including interviews with the cast, directors and stage managers, as well as documentaries and an on-screen video tour of the opera house, pictured right.

Harlow audiences have already enjoyed performances of Strauss's Salome and Gilbert's Dr Atomic, and this Saturday the cinema hosts a screening of Hector Berlioz's classic contemplation of good and evil, La Damnation de Faust.

A Cineworld spokeswoman told the Star: "We are committed to giving our visitors the very best experience from their local cinema and are delighted that we can diversify our programme schedule in this way.

"Through showcasing the New York Metropolitan Opera, we are not only making the Met's famous Diamond Circle more accessible to opera fans across the UK but are bringing them the very best cultural entertainment the world has to offer."

● The screening of La Damnation de Faust begins at 6pm on Saturday, and tickets are £10 (£8 concessions) from (0871) 200 2000 or online at www.cineworld.co.uk.

ART Wayne Lloyd presents a unique interpretation of gentle 1960s comedy Mon Oncle, the story of a family's move from a traditional Victorian home to the bold, modern environment of a cutting-edge housing development in Paris. The free performance on Saturday at 2pm is in Barnabas Hall, Playhouse Square, but places must be booked in advance on (01279) 431945.

DRAMA Head to The Playhouse for the ultimate girls' night out on Wednesday as smash-hit global phenomenon The Vagina Monologues makes a return visit at 7.30pm. Tickets are £18 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC Squint hard enough and you could be at Scarborough Fair when eerily authentic Simon and Garfunkel tribute act Homeward Bound brings the Sounds Of Silence to The Playhouse on Thursday at 7.30pm. Expect covers versions of bonafide classics such as Mrs Robinson, The Boxer and Bridge Over Troubled Water. Tickets are £16 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC St John's Arts and Recreation Centre, in Market Street, Old Harlow, hosts an autumn concert by Harlow Symphony Orchestra on Sunday at 7.30pm. Conducted by Andrew Bruce, the group will perform works by Schumann, Nielsen, Sibelius and Sarasati. Tickets are £8 (£6 conc) from (01279) 442447.

MUSIC Music-lovers can look forward to a festive-themed evening of Parisian Swing at the next meeting of Harlow Music Society, at Great Parndon Community Association, in Abercrombie Way, on Thursday at 8pm. Tickets are £5 for members, £5.50 for guests.

ART Amanda Beech's short film Statecraft continues to be screened at The Harlow Temple Of Utopias, in Market Square, until Monday. Filmed on location in Harlow, the work mixes politics, fiction and electro-synth music to construct a cinematic narrative. Admission is free.

Still getting a kick out of Cole

BISHOP'S Stortford Musical Theatre Company takes on one of the greatest musicals of all time when it stages an ambitious adaptation of Anything Goes at The Playhouse this week.

With music and lyrics by the legendary Cole Porter, the romantic comedy is a vibrant and fast-paced production with larger-than-life characters, great comic moments and music that's comfortably stood the test of time.

Set in the 1930s, the show opens as the SS American prepares to set sail from New York to London.

Love-struck stowaway Billy Crocker sneaks aboard in hope of capturing the heart of society debutant Hope Harcourt, on her way to England to get married.

Billy dons a variety of hilarious disguises to hide from his ham-fisted boss Elisha Whitney, who is also in the ship, and to get closer to Hope.

With a cast of 30, the production promises some unforgettable antics as well as fantastic song and dance routines plus classic Cole Porter songs including You're the Top, I Get A Kick Out of You, Easy To Love and, of course, Anything Goes.

Performances are at 7.30pm nightly until Saturday, with a 2.30pm matinee on the last day. Tickets are £8-£14 from (01279) 431495.

Best friend on horns of a dilemma

MY BEST FRIEND'S GIRL

certificate 15,
running time 1h39m

DUSTIN (Jason Biggs) falls head over heels in love with Alexis (Kate Hudson), the woman of his dreams who possesses beauty, brains and a will to succeed.

Unfortunately, Dustin comes on too strong and Alexis is forced to end the relationship after just five weeks, sending her paramour into the pits of despair.

Determined to win her back, Dustin turns to his best friend Tank (Dane Cook), a serial womaniser with a crafty streak who specialises in dating recently separated women and giving them the worst evening of their lives so they run back to their exes at top speed.

Tank takes Alexis out for a night she will never forget, with the intention of rebounding her back to Dustin.

However, Alexis fails to fall for his scare tactics. Moreover, Tank finds himself attracted to this fiercely independent young woman and faces a moral dilemma: to follow his heart or remain loyal to his heartbroken pal.

Caught in the crossfire of the war on terrorism

In the war on terror there are no winners. Only victims.

Power to bring the conflict to a resolution rests not in the trembling hands of soldiers – the brave men and women who risk their lives in the name of freedom – but in the upper echelons of power in Washington DC and Langley, Virginia.

In these silent corridors, nameless men in suits pore over covert intelligence, taking decisions which could result in the loss of hundreds of innocent lives.

CIA supervisor Ed Hoffman (Russell Crowe) is a key player in overseas operations. From the comfort of his suburban life as a doting father, Ed co-ordinates the day-to-day activities of agent Roger Ferris (Leonardo DiCaprio), who is authorised to use extreme force to ensure the safety of America and its people.

BODY OF LIES

certificate 15, running time 2h8m

Together, Ed and Roger pursue the elusive Al-Saleem (Alon Aboutboul), head of a terrorist cell which is responsible for numerous bombings across Europe. However, the closer the two men edge to their target, the greater the chance of innocent civilians and US operatives being caught in the crossfire.

To achieve his goal, Roger aligns himself with Hani Salaam (Mark Strong), head of the Jordanian General Intelligence Department. Roger is frugal with the truth and sparks a tentative romance with Jordanian-Iranian nurse Aisha (Golshifteh Farahani), who tends to his wounds at a clinic.

But the relationship exposes Roger and Al-Saleem seizes the opportunity to strike back with deadly force.

There is nothing subtle about Body Of Lies, which reunites director Ridley Scott with leading man Crowe for their third consecutive film since the Oscar-winning epic Gladiator.

The romantic subplot is merely a crude plot device to facilitate a pivotal torture scene during which Al-Saleem takes a hammer to DiCaprio's right hand and smashes those Oscar-nominated pinkies to a pulp in gruesome close-up.

DiCaprio is lacklustre in a predominately reactive role but Crowe impresses as an overweight family man, juggling energetic children with decisions of national importance via a mobile phone and omnipresent earpiece which never appears to lose signal range.

BREAKNECK RUMBA EP The Stolen Coda

For those too young to remember the implosion of the free-lovin' Sixties and its metamorphosis into the gritty, hard-rocking early-Seventies, the deceptively tender-aged Stolen Coda offer a pretty faithful reproduction of the definitive classic rawk sound with their latest hell-raising EP.

How four lads from Harlow manage to muster up such an ear-bleedingly brilliant racket without so much as a beard between them I'll never know, but I can be sure you won't listen to a more talented bunch of virtuosos for some time. It's fair to say there's nothing particularly fresh or innovative about any of the six tracks on Breakneck Rumba but to dismiss the mighty Coda as a bunch of retrograde wannabe musos is to miss the point entirely.

They may seemingly inhabit a forgotten world of whiskey bars, Ford Granadas and Cuban cigars, but their youthful exuberance and never-say-die tenacity are the qualities that really shine through.

From the moment Cough It Up tears out of the speakers like a ravenous greyhound released from the trap, the pace rarely lets up through the swirling rock behemoth of Strike Up The Band and the schizophrenic stop-start cacophony of Devil Don't Care.

Shifting up a gear for the breakneck blues boogie of Jake Legged, the boys then launch themselves into the Band Of Gypsies-esque wig-out that is Barrelhouse before rounding things off in fine style with the raspy-and-a-rumblin' rock 'n' roll of Stone The Crows.

Recorded in just four days, the EP retains all the urgency and spontaneity of one of their near-legendary live performances.

Mist's monsters are on the inside

THE MIST
(Momentum Pictures, 15, retail & rental)

Considering he's long been the pre-eminent author in his field, Stephen King's books have a patchy record in being adapted for the screen.

For every success such as Carrie or The Dead Zone, there are a fistful of clunky misses like Firestarter, Children Of The Corn, The Lawnmower Man, Silver Bullet, The Running Man and Maximum Overdrive, his self-helmed crack at adapting the short story Trucks.

Even top-ranking genre directors John Carpenter (Christine) and Stanley Kubrick (The Shining) failed to capture the unique quality of his writing that's helped make him a global name.

A big part of the problem has been the by-the-numbers Hollywood approach to adapting novels, stripping the story down to its bare skeleton and then fleshing it back out movie-style.

The thing is, King's plots are seldom his big selling points (haunted car, vampire on the loose, psychics with apocalyptic visions, small town werewolves), it's the credible characters with which he populates them, their flaws and conversational nuances, that bring his tales to life – and which are usually the first aspect to be jettisoned.

Frank Darabont went a long way to changing all that when he directed The Shawshank Redemption (1994), his prison-set drama of grace under pressure and the triumph of the human spirit deftly skating the fine line between solid decency and schmaltz by understanding that it's the people not the plot that matters.

He showed a similar knack when adapting The Green Mile (1999) and looked set to be the go-to guy for faithful adaptations of the less horrific side of King's output.

Here he shows it's possible to blend richly textured character work with a sense of creeping dread and bursts of jaw-dropping horror to incredibly powerful effect – The Mist isn't just a great riff on '50s monster movies and the best King horror adaptation to date, it's a serious contender for the best horror movie of the last decade, maybe longer.

On the morning after a wild storm, artist/everyman Dave Drayton (Thomas Jane) drives his son Billy (Nathan Gamble) and frosty neighbour (Andre Braugher) into Castle Rock's supermarket for supplies, only to find himself and his fellow shoppers under siege when a curious mist engulfs the town. A mist with shadowy things lurking in it. Very bad things.

After a teenage boy dies horribly in a loading bay ("... what the hell were those tentacles even attached to?"), the enormity of their plight closes in and the store's occupants begin to fracture and schism, some like surprisingly capable bag boy Ollie (Toby Jones) and city girl Amanda (Laurie Holden) falling in with Drayton while others, seeing the veil of reality shredded before them, relapse into a primal panic and cleave to unhinged evangelist Mrs Carmody (Marcia Gay Harden) and her messianic prophecies of doom and hellfire.

The creatures glimpsed in the mist are by turns weird, awe-inspiring and terrifying but Darabont smartly keeps the human monsters at the forefront, cranking up a palpable tension as he gets career-best turns from a cast playing it to perfection.

And then there's the ending – few films have ever had the courage to hit a note of such devastating bleakness and then go on to surpass it with a genuine tremor of horror.

Shamefully denied a decent theatrical release and long-delayed arriving on DVD, The Mist deserves a far wider audience.

THE RUTLES – ALL YOU NEED IS CASH: 30th ANNIVERSARY EDITION
(Second Sight, 12, retail)

I first caught Eric Idle's spot-on parody of The Beatles as a teenager and cracked up at the sheer Python-esque silliness of the Prefab Four, from the ludicrous asides and comedy names to the famous faces such as John Belushi, Bill Murray, Paul Simon and Mick Jagger going along with the gag.

Three decades later and the real rats in the Rat Keller, Leggy Mountbatten and Idle's accident-prone links are still funny, but what really shines out is the sheer craftsmanship of the superb songs by Neil Innes.

The likes of O-U-C-H!, With A Girl Like You, Love Life, Cheese And Onions, Piggy In The Middle, I Must Be In Love and Let's Be Natural sound so authentic they could have been written and performed by the real thing, save for the sly, affectionate tone of parody.

The performances, too, are spot-on, with Innes' Ron Nasty capturing Lennon's acerbic edge while Idle's Dirk McQuickly has McCartney's fey ways down to a tee.

A raft of excellent extras include a commentary by Idle, deleted scenes, the interview-packed documentary Get Up And Go: The Making Of The Rutles and the fascinating Inside Shabby Road: The Music Of The Rutles, a look at the writing and recording of the soundtrack.

FREE ZONE
(Bluebell Films, 15, retail)

French director Amos Gitai's dissection of the Middle East's longest running and evidently least soluble conflict opens with the bold flourish of a single take in close-up of Natalie Portman sobbing her eyes out in the back of a cab for about 10 minutes.

As she does so, what sounds like the pop version of an Israeli folk song along the lines of "Big fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em ..." plays out and the viewer is left wondering who she is, what she's crying about and why we should care.

It's an early flavour of the rest of the film as her character Rebecca, an American left heartbroken by her European lover, takes a long taxi ride with a Jewish cabbie into the free trade area of the title to collect a debt and, eventually, cross paths with a Palestinian woman.

Despite his characters serving as little more than blunt ciphers for Israel's protracted conflict, Gitai seems to have a little fresh to say about it as they do and the last part of the film winds down into predictable and myopic cliché. But maybe that's the point.

On the positive side, the three actresses give interesting performances and Hanna Ben Moshe is particularly good as the pragmatic cabbie.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20 Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

Take a steady approach to your finances. You can be helped by an older individual, perhaps a family member, as long as your needs are practical, as opposed to wanting a loan to spend money on something less than sensible. Your ruler Mars is in lively form too this week, and that can see you in the mood to expand your horizons physically or mentally. Call now for your financial forecast...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21 Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

If you're kidding yourself about the workability of an idea, it can see you project your frustrations onto others - if they don't give you the feedback you'd like. In fact, you may need to be more aware of your own attitudes. Then again, don't be too quick to believe one individual's self publicity. This person can seem captivating, but can be deceptive and hurtful. Call me now for more astral advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21 Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Mars powers into a go-getting part of your horoscope, but this can also see you cross swords with those who seem slow to respond. Proceed cautiously here. Gemini for information you receive may be at best inaccurate, at worst down the right wrong. All this can leave you feeling rather insecure or strained or exhausted. Is it time to review your fitness regime? Call me for more news and advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23 Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

Venus moves into your partnership zone. This can trigger more harmonious conduct in all sorts of relationships and enable people to let go of petty niggles. If you've been struggling to get along with someone, try to reach out and find the middle ground with them. With Mars active, you can work hard and feel enriched from doing things efficiently and well. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23 Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

If you're labouring to cope with different demands, be aware that one particular advice giver may not be as supportive as they seem. Watch for hidden agendas. And yet from an energy viewpoint, Mars is going to be a bolstering influence for you right up until Christmas, and this can give you the wherewithal to cope with the demands of the festive season. Call me now for more astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23 Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

We all say things, and then after a few moments reflection, wish we hadn't. And this week, subtly, someone may create a situation, one where you feel obliged to offer help, part of your nature to which, the moment you do, you may regret. Be aware you can be susceptible to such suggestions. Treasure good deeds done for you, but don't give away your goodwill too cheaply. Call you to retain some wiggle room. Call your prediction line for more...

Rate cut is a positive step towards recovery

THE Bank of England recently announced a 1.5 per cent reduction to the bank base rate in a bid to kick-start the economy. Base rates have been slashed to three per cent, the lowest since 1954.

The news follows last month's decision to cut interest rates by 0.5 per cent following which a number of lenders were criticised for not passing on the savings to their customers.

The recent decision to reduce base rates will immediately benefit many existing mortgage customers on variable and base rate tracker products. A number of major lenders have also announced that they will pass on the savings by reducing their standard variable rates.

The news coincides with Halifax releasing the latest house price figures which highlighted significant improvements in affordability. Halifax chief economist Martin Ellis said: "The house price to average earnings ratio has fallen below 5.0 for the first time for more than four years. We expect a further improvement in the ratio over the coming months."

Bairstow Eves has hundreds of mortgage products and access to the latest housing schemes through Countrywide Mortgage Services, one of the UK's largest mortgage brokers. CMS works with a panel of leading high street lenders.

Spokesman Adrian Whitten said "This news is a positive step towards us seeing an upturn in the market. Reduced house prices combined with lower interest rates makes this an excellent opportunity for would-be home buyers."

"Improvements in interest rates and affordability will ultimately restore confidence among first time buyers and home owners keen to move onto and up the property ladder."

Bairstow Eves has a team of professional mortgage consultants on hand to offer advice and, unlike some mortgage brokers, Countrywide Mortgage Services does not charge a fee for their advice and recommendation service.

To find out more about Countrywide Mortgage Services and the options available to you locally, visit www.mortgagescountrywide.co.uk or contact your local Bairstow Eves branch and ask the mortgage consultant about Countrywide's current mortgage offers.

Contact Jon Taylor on 07748 760228 to arrange an appointment with one of their qualified mortgage consultants to see how they could help you.

Volvo crashes the party

By IAIN DOOLEY

observer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

YOU can be forgiven for arriving late to a party if you bring along something nice.

A fine example is Ford and its Kuga SUV. While not the first compact soft-roader to hit the market, it's certainly one of the better ones.

Keeping it Ford-themed, Volvo – the Swedish firm is owned by the mighty Blue Oval – thought it would be a good idea to make an appearance at the compact sports utility party. It's become quite a gathering in recent years, and industry watchers have become all too keen to criticise sub-standard offerings.

Mirroring Ford's 'better late than never' philosophy, Volvo's contribution is the XC60. The company has form in the sport utility market; its larger XC90 has been a roaring success and continues to be the first choice of many seeking seven seats in a safe, stylish and surprisingly capable package.

Describing the XC60 as the XC90's baby brother is perfectly acceptable. The familiar Volvo styling cues are all there, only this time with a modern twist. Boasting elements from the XC90 and the more recently updated XC70, the XC60 projects a softer image than its bigger brother.

It's fair to say that, what with the high cost of motoring and the desire of many to present a less conspicuous side to their consumption activities, the XC60 could easily be seen as the more acceptable face of the premium SUV stereotype. Volvo is certainly wise to the fact that many have admired the XC90 but thought it offered too much of everything.

Well now there's no excuse. And to further sweeten the deal, the car comes with a wealth of standard and optional safety kit way beyond that of a conventional family car.

Mindful that the majority of shunts take place at a crawl, Volvo has devised a 'City Safety' system that monitors the car in front and will brake the XC to a halt if your speed is under 18mph. Over that speed and the car will do its best to slow you down enough so as to minimise the damage to you, the car in front and its occupants.

Factor in the usual slew of electronic traction aids, a special ESP-like system to keep whatever you're towing in check plus a lane-keep assistant to gently remind you if you wander and it's clear that Volvo is in no mood to relinquish its hard-fought safety reputation anytime soon.

Volvo is also keen to add value to the SUV sector with its XC60. Far from being yet another predictable car in the marketplace, the XC's interior is full of character and practical touches.

Again, it mirrors the V70 and XC70 with its measured use of naturally treated wood finishes and alternative metal trims. Seat upholstery designs are surprisingly bold, while the car's fascia is subtly angled towards the driver, BMW-style, in a nod to its agile nature.

Volvo is keen to create a positive first impression with the XC60 when it comes to performance, and as such there's a pair of willing five-cylinder diesel engines and a performance-orientated six-cylinder petrol unit.

The latter possesses, as you would expect, something of a niche appeal. It's hard to fault its performance – quick, responsive, refined – but if you're watching the pennies the diesel units will always come first.

In the case of the high-spec D5 unit, and when mated to the optional auto gearbox, progress is smooth and pleasingly brisk. In 183bhp form, the motor proves more than capable of keeping up with city traffic and happily cruises at motorway speeds all day long. The engine's generous reserves of torque (295lb/ft from 2,000rpm) should also make towing and traversing rough or slippery ground equally effortless.

And that's the thing about Volvo's XC60: it's such an easy car to drive and no doubt destined to be a painless car to own. The car's cabin is light, airy and spacious while the boot is wide, flat and accommodating. Fold down the rear seats and active types will have no trouble carrying bikes, surfboards and the like.

Being an SUV, the driving position is a lofty one, ensuring visibility fore and aft is first rate. And with Volvo's reputation for sound cabin ergonomics, all the major controls are intuitive and close to hand.

Available in three trim levels and boasting a generous amount of standard equipment plus a raft of attractive options, Volvo may have been beaten to the winning post, but the fashionably late arrival of the X60 can be excused on the grounds that it's a first-rate proposition.

EXECUTIVE CAREER CLUBS

An Executive Career Club is starting in the Bishops Stortford area in the new year at the Stansted Manor Hotel aiming to help redundant Executives find work, network and reassess their careers.

The programme of twelve weeks will cover marketing oneself, discovering where the jobs are, the recruitment procedures of different employers and the options for moving on to include career change and development and self employment.

There will be a formal presentation each week as well as the opportunity to exchange information informally and receive professional guidance. The length of programme relates to the realistic time it is known that it takes to find new employment and make decisions concerning ones best work options for the future.

Sylvia Anderson, a Job Search Consultant ran a similar programme in the 90s for five years for Executives in the area, when many were being made redundant or encouraged to take early retirement. The large numbers now being made redundant are from all age groups. Sylvia Anderson will chair most sessions and present some but other professionals will be engaged to give information on different aspects of work.

The club should help members maintain the momentum of their job search as well as gaining ideas, information and support from fellow members. Job seeking Executives are invited to join and turn their out of work experience into a positive outcome. It is unlikely that any sponsorship will be immediately available as before, so that the club will be run solely on a commercial basis.

Five medals for karate squad

A SQUAD from Harlow-based Hanko-Ryu Karate-Do attended the TKA International in Hornchurch.

The squad, all students at Mark Hall Sports College, had an extremely successful day and brought home two golds, two silvers and one bronze medal.

The club also wrapped up a silver in the team kata event, their third of the competition.

James Davies (12) won a gold medal in his individual kata event (3rd to 1st kyu).

His success was followed up by Sean Perry (12) who also won a gold, this time in the dan grade category.

James and Sean then went on to compete in the same kumite (fighting) section.

After several hard fights each, James won the silver medal and Sean took the bronze.

This in turn was followed by Lucy Palmer (15), who won a silver in the kumite section.

Finally, James Davies, together with brothers Sean and Jack Perry (14), competed together in the team kata event to win the silver.

Sharp-shooter Harry can get better and better

THE best is yet to come from 11-year-old sharp-shooter Harry Johnson – who clinched a gold medal in his sport.

The Passmoors School student, pictured above, will collect his prize next week after completely dominating the 9- to 13-years section in the UK Hunter Field Target Shooting series.

The youngster hit all 57 targets to pick up a 100 per cent tally and finish well clear of the rest of the field at the final event in Barnsley.

Hunter field target shooting simulates a woodland environment, where players attempt to knock down various targets.

The series has been running since April and Harry, of Upper Stoneyfield, Harlow, has been in top form throughout the year, when competing against rivals from across England and Wales.

This was the third time in successive years that he has won this section, since first competing at the tender age of nine.

Harry regularly competes for a club in Maldon, Essex.

Dad Dave has been hugely impressed with his son's progress. "It's a big achievement. The kids he is shooting against are two or three years older. I am proud. I know I'm his dad but he's done exceptionally well."

Anglers enjoying best ever season

STORT Valley Angling Society members are enjoying their best ever season.

Competing in the London Anglers' Association River Thames Championships at Kingston, South London, the club's match secretary, Steve Beehan took first place.

He netted a magnificent 38lbs 15ozs of bream using feeder-fed worm in the difficult, flooded conditions.

The Harlow club also won the team event. Captained by Beehan, it included his father Bill, plus Steve Turnbull and Danny Cruise.

Another of the club's teams, consisting of captain Kevin Shaw, Mick and Jan MacDonald and veteran Chris Rees, lifted the Thames Valley Benevolent Trophy which was fished on the Grand Union Canal around Berkhamsted.

Stort Valley have now secured 13 section medals from four contests.

In their first visit to the River Medway in Maidstone, Kent, 16 members caught 119lbs 7ozs in appalling conditions.

Chairman Mick Westby led the way with a 28lbs 14oz net.

With 15lbs exactly, Steve Turnbull was second, followed by Bob Groom with 13lbs of fish.

Miller's tale of final joy

CUP JOY: Tennis starlet Ben Miller (S439QTOR 02)

Lawn tennis

A TALENTED young tennis player has continued his strong form by convincingly winning a tournament in Essex.

Harlow Lawn Tennis Club player Ben Miller won the LTA (Lawn Tennis Association) U-12 boys singles open tournament at Woodford Wells.

He defeated highly-rated Essex No.4 seed Jared Linnell (Redbridge) 6-4, 6-4 in the final.

The 12-year-old from the Latton Bush club in Southern Way, got through five matches before reaching the final.

Essex No.5 seed Ben, who attends Mark Hall School, got off to a storming start in the final, winning the first three games before Jared fought back to level the set at 4-4.

The Harlow player then held his serve and managed to get ahead again, this time holding his advantage to take the first set.

Both players played some excellent shots, moving each other around the court well and using the wet conditions to their advantage.

Jared went ahead early in the second set, breaking Ben's serve.

Games went against serve until the sixth game. Ben then put together a run of three winning games to go 5-3 up.

Jared pulled one game back to make it 5-4, but Ben finished off the set by breaking his opponent's serve one final time to win the match.

Will Calvert, Harlow's head coach, said: "This result is well deserved as Ben has put in considerable effort over the last few months."

Earlier, Ben had been given a bye in the first round.

He defeated Conor Caplan 6-2, 6-1 in round two.

In round three he beat Callum Li 6-0, 6-1.

Ben won 6-3, 6-3 against Ben Clark in the quarter-final.

In the last four he triumphed 6-2, 6-3 against Sam Lyall.

Success for club at two tournaments

A JUDO club from Harlow is celebrating tremendous success at two tournaments.

Three members of Harlow Judo Club secured medals at the High Wycombe Northern Home Counties Open competition in Buckinghamshire.

This came hot on the heels of five club-mates sealing medals at the Clacton International Judo Festival in Essex.

At High Wycombe, Seniz Hassan achieved a silver medal in the 44kgs section for under 12-year-olds.

There were bronze medals for Harry Forbes in the U-37kgs section for Under 12-year-olds and Cengiz Hassan, who was competing in the under 44kgs section for 12- to 15-year-olds.

Fred White just finished outside the medal positions in the 34kgs division for under 12-year-olds.

There was better luck for Fred at Clacton where he took the bronze in the 34kgs section.

Shinez Hussain also took bronze in the 44kgs for under 12-year-olds.

There were also bronze medals for Dayna Worsfold (57kgs) and Adam Pope (44kgs) in the over 12-year-olds.

Genghis Hussain lost in the final of the 44kgs section (over 12-year-olds). He produced an excellent performance and returned with a silver medal.

Fightback maintains promotion charge

Brentwood II 2, Harlow 2

(Essex Women's Hockey League, premier div)

A DRAW with fourth-placed Brentwood on Saturday maintained Harlow Ladies' promotion hopes.

It was important for the side to get a positive result after last week's 8-0 thrashing against Havering.

The visitors started well with attacks from forwards Sarah Donaghey and Karen Capon forcing Brentwood to defend.

With just nine minutes gone Harlow took the lead from a short-corner routine straight off the training ground. Top scorer Carolyn Rushton took a return pass from Sonya Amos and blasted an unstoppable drive past the Brentwood keeper.

Harlow remained 1-0 up at the break thanks largely to some excellent defending from centre-back Lizeel Hansson and Anita Shearman.

The visitors seemed set to double their lead when Rushton's lazy run into the circle set up Sunny Tidsbury to score – only for a Brentwood defender to illegally stop it on the line.

A penalty flick was awarded – and saved – while Harlow were further angered that no further action was taken against the guilty Brentwood defender.

Adding insult to injury the hosts equalised just three minutes later after a goalmouth scramble.

Brentwood were controversially awarded a second goal with 10 minutes left. The ball appeared to deflect off defender Jo Green and roll past the despairing dive of Harlow keeper Nicky Newland.

The visitors refused to give up and Rushton slotted home her second of the game with four minutes left.

HARLOW: Newland, Green, Hansson, Shearman, Figg, Rushton, Amos, Tidsbury, Donaghey, Capon, Hawes, Rowley.

Side bounce back to beat basement boys

Harlow 5, Chelmsford III 4

(East Men's Hockey League, div three south east)

HARLOW bounced back from last week's heavy defeat to win this six-pointer against basement side Chelmsford.

The hosts took the lead midway through the first half when Craig Cholerton used his pace to slip through the opposition defence and fire in from the top of the D.

A lively start to the second half from Chelmsford saw them equalise from a penalty corner.

Stung, Joe Symonds' men regained the lead soon after when Cholerton turned and rifled home with a superb reverse strike.

Harlow made it 3-1 when Robert Chandler tucked into an empty net from a yard out.

Chelmsford punished some slack defending by netting from a short corner and then equalising.

But a great move between Ben Light and Chris Slack ended with the latter smashing the ball into the roof of the net.

Slack's low strike gave Harlow a two-goal lead, before the visitors pulled a fourth goal back close to the end.

HARLOW: Norris, Jones, Harvey, Tovell, Gorringer, Cholerton, Symonds, Krzoska, Light, Shearman-Slack, Chandler.

Admiral Rol on by clipping Swifts' wings

A 180 from Roland Renker helped White Admiral to an 8-1 win against Golden Swifts.

The victory lifted the side 10 points clear in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

In their first match at their new venue Tye Green Bowls Club Whites recorded a 6-3 win over MH Arrows to put them one point in front of third-placed Stow Snooker who just edged out Moot House 4-5.

Last year's champions Servo Hawks blew a 4-1 lead as they lost 4-5 at home to Young Pretenders.

Winless CC Foxes lost 5-4 to UG Social.

There was a 115 out shot from Foxes' Colin Brown, a 113 from Alec Anderson (UG) and a 180 by Steve Dixon (UG).

Elsewhere, CC Colts beat FC Wonders 8-1.

Strugglers hold Hawks

SEVENTEEN-year-old James Peagram was drafted in for his Harlow Town first team debut as the Hawks were held by struggling Ramsgate at Barrows Farm.

The midfielder, who has impressed for the reserves, came in after a groin strain ruled out Jordan Fowler just before kick-off on Saturday.

Hawks assistant boss Kevin Warren said: "He has bundles of energy. He is a prospect."

Jamie Richards returned to the Hawks' starting line-up, having completed his suspension.

Ramsgate's Andy Hadden toe-poked over the bar a minute into the game, before Hawks keeper James Hasell released Peagram with a long kick, but the debutant's flick over the advancing keeper dropped just over the bar.

A long-range free-kick on the left from Danny Green was missed by all and rebounded off the top of the far post, before a sharp cross-range effort from James Bunn was blocked by keeper Jack Delo.

Harlow Tn 1, Ramsgate 1
(Ryman League, premier division)

The Hawks went in front on the half-hour mark. Leon Lalite played the ball through to Richards in a crowded area, and he teed up Bunn to rifle into the net via the underside of the bar.

Delo dived low to deny Richards but the Rams should have equalised four minutes before the break when they caught Harlow keeper Hasell in no-man's land. Mark Taylor tried to clear the danger, before Danny Chapman cleared an effort from Jay May off the line.

The hosts had another let-off close to the hour when Danny Walder's corner was met by the head of skipper Nick Davis, but Taylor nodded off the line.

Ramsgate equalised in the 65th minute. A throw-in from the right side was flicked on by May and Hadden headed in unmarked from 12 yards.

Richards and Harlow substitute Tom Querry both went close to finding a winner.

Davis then cleared off the line from Bunn after Taylor's cross caused chaos in the box on 88 minutes.

The Hawks had one final chance three minutes into added time, but Taylor's shot from the edge of the box was blocked by Ramsgate keeper Dan Tanner.

Warren added: "It was always going to be a hard game for us with what we have done [in the FA Cup]."

"They made a couple of substitutions and brought on some tricky players. We needed to step up to that next gear but a draw was a fair result."

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Taylor, Hollenbach, Chapman, Kear, Kirby, Lalite, Peagram (Querry, 65), Richards, Bunn, Green. Subs not used: Charles, Lampe, Tague, Waldock (gk). Yellow cards: Chapman, Hollenbach. Att: 305.

● GLENN Hoddle and MP Bill Rammell have been named honorary vice-presidents at Harlow Town FC.

It's no Joke as Hawks suffer heavy defeat

Harlow Hawks 53, Ware Jokers 82

(Herts County Cup, group stage)

SHAB Niaz admitted his Harlow Hawks side must improve massively as they prepare for Saturday's important Founder's Cup clash at the Sportcentre.

Having suffered their heaviest defeat of the season, Harlow take on the same side in the senior competition in two days' time.

The hosts were out-played by Ware and coach Niaz said: "We simply did not rise to the challenge and did not want to compete."

"It's the first time in a few seasons that we have had such a poor performance at both ends of the floor, our shooting percentage was too low and our defence was very soft."

Hawks started off well with a three-pointer by Shab Niaz but Ware replied with one of their own.

Scores from Mark Haddow, Paul Jessop, Dave Spashett and Mike Freeman were all Harlow had to show for a disappointing first quarter as they trailed 19-12.

Ware extended their lead to 18 points before a Dave Spashett three-pointer halted their run.

Lee Jones found some scoring form but the Hawks were still down 41-24 at the end of the second quarter.

An 8-0 run from the hosts cut the lead to 11 points before Ware responded with an 11-3 run to finish the quarter 61-42 up.

Ware pushed on in the final quarter and out-scored Harlow by 21 points to 11 to wrap up the victory and give them a psychological edge heading into Saturday's match between the two sides.

The result means Harlow must win their final group match to qualify for the knockout rounds and will miss out on home advantage.

HARLOW HAWKS: Freeman (13pts), Jessop (11), Jones (7), Niaz (6), Spashett (5), Sharma (4), Haddow (3), Moss (2), Allan (2), Burgess.

● CHILDREN can get in free to Saturday's match if accompanied by a paying adult. Entry is £2 and the game tips off at 7.20pm.

Charlie Shaves and Alfie Shipwright were also on target in the BAA Stansted West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League Cup first round match.

In the same competition, Ware U-12s won 2-1 at Saturn. Connor Ellis was among the scorers for The Link-based club.

Langley Colts Mustangs U-13s went out after a 5-3 defeat to Waltham Abbey Whites.

Brett Hilsden and Gregory Wright (2) replied for Mustangs.

In a representative game the League's U-12s lost 10-0 at home to Cambridge.

Annor win thriller to advance in Herts Cup

ANNOR Harlow squash team moved into the second round of the Herts Junior Cup with a victory over Royston.

Fifth string Dan Collison got Annor Harlow off to a good start with a 12-15, 15-12, 15-8, 15-12 win.

Fourth string Andy won 15-9, 12-15, 15-10, 15-9, but third string John Tennant lost in straight games (12-15, 10-15, 13-15).

Royston levelled the match when Harlow's second string Mike Symmons lost 3-2 in a decider.

However No.1 Ian Gould withstood the pressure to win 15-5, 15-6, 9-15, 15-8 and clinch victory.

Sarries too strong for Rams

A VISIT from Saracens Rugby Club's U-16 team proved a real test for Harlow.

The Harlow U-16s battled well before going down 36-7.

Harlow dominated the scrums and the backs tackled very well, particularly David Briggenshaw and Ryan Clark.

Saracens managed only one converted try in the first half.

The game changed when Sarries brought on several Herts county players and ran in five tries past the tiring hosts.

The Young Rams were rewarded for a battling display with a late try. A run from the 22m line was finished off by winger Ball. Deniz Crafton converted.

Harlow U-15s contained

Youth rugby

U-14 players Zac Chammaouie, centre Vinnie Hunter and second row Josh Doe, in their 22-12 home loss to Colchester.

The visitors scored an unconverted try but Harlow took the lead when Chammaouie crashed over. His try was converted by centre Ryan Matthew.

Colchester ran in three tries before Harlow replied with a try just before the end from prop Scott Melville. Matthew converted.

Close rivals Upper Clapton Colts beat Harlow Colts 10-5.

The hosts scored first with a well-struck penalty and went further ahead with a converted try following powerful forward pressure.

Harlow had a try disallowed just before the interval but did score in the second half with an unconverted try from Ray Tovey, who crashed over following a good mauling drive by the Harlow pack.

Harlow U-17s suffered a 29-12 home defeat to Braintree.

The Young Rams lost number eight Jack Palmer with a serious ankle injury during the first half.

Without any substitutes Harlow had to play with 14 men against a side who had scored 60 points against them last year.

The visitors scored two converted tries in the first half and three more after the break.

The Young Rams were rewarded for refusing to give up when flanker Lenny Hayden burrowed his way through to score. Fly-half Danny Smith converted the try.

Late on winger Chris Turner beat his man to score in the corner.

Harlow U-13s lost 50-5 against their Braintree counterparts.

The Junior Rams found the going hard against a strong and well organised Braintree side.

Harlow restricted the visitors to three tries, two converted, in the first half.

Braintree made several changes at half-time and scored five further tries with three conversions.

Harlow scored a try in the last minute when Scott Whitby did well to beat the defence and score in the corner.

Keeper injury blow

THE Hawks face a race against time to get goalkeeper James Hasell fit for Saturday's home match against promotion-chasing Carshalton.

Hasell limped off with an ankle injury in Harlow Town's Essex Senior Cup match against Billericay Town at Barrows Farm on Tuesday.

Assistant boss Kevin Warren said: "He could not carry on and we could not take a risk that he would miss Saturday - that would be a blow. He will be assessed over the next couple of days."

Without a recognised stopper on the bench against Billericay, striker Craig Charles went in goal.

He was part of a young makeshift side which included four teenagers: Ted

Harlow Tn 0, Billericay Tn 5
(Essex Senior Cup, 3rd round)

Llewellyn, Jack Lampe, Harrison Tague and James Peagram. The side also included first team regulars Danny Green and Paul Kear, both only 17.

Strangely it was at this stage of the competition last year against Redbridge that Harlow were forced to use defender Michael Gliddon in goal due to injuries to both keepers.

Hasell was injured as Billericay scored their first goal on 10 minutes.

Rikki Burbridge slid in on the advancing custodian and stabbed the ball beyond the prone keeper and into the far corner of the net.

His replacement Charles soon made an excellent save from ex-AFC Wimbledon midfielder Steven Ferguson.

But he could do nothing to stop Burbridge adding a second on 40 minutes when he headed in Ferguson's cross.

At the other end, Mark Taylor's corner was heading in until it was cleared off the line by Ashley Dumas.

Burbridge completed his hat-trick when he chipped Charles in first-half injury-time, while Billy Bricknell netted from an acute angle on 51 minutes.

Blues skipper Jamie Dormer's cross was deflected into his own net by Llewellyn on 63 minutes to complete a miserable night for the hosts.

Green's free-kick flew wide late on as Harlow were denied even a consolation.

Warren added: "It gave us an opportunity to look at the young boys that have been doing very well for the reserves. James going off was a massive blow as we needed an experienced keeper in front of that back four."

TOUCH DOWN: Lee Harron scores Harlow's first try but the Rams went on to lose to fellow strugglers Saffron Walden (CZLRJC7W-07)

Skipper says Rams can beat the drop

THE Rams' defeat in their relegation crunch match with Saffron Walden left the side marooned in the bottom two.

But skipper Paul Eynon is sure Harlow can stay up. He told Star Sport: "We have got the talent. The guys are good enough to stay in this league. We seem to be lacking a little bit of experience, but we will get there."

"We have got to get a few points before the Christmas break." Harlow started well and scored a penalty through Paul Humphries on eight minutes before Lee Harron's quick break saw him touch down for an unconverted try on the quarter-hour mark.

Walden hit back and Tom Hughes kicked three penalties in a 10-minute period leading to the half-hour mark.

But the Rams regained the lead shortly after when a good move ended with flanker Lee Covington scoring under the posts.

Humphries converted for 15-9. A powerful run from Hughes saw him score a converted try under the posts for a half-time lead.

Nine minutes into the second half Walden increased their advantage when the ball was spun out wide for winger Dave Patch to go round on the overlap to score a well-worked try. The conversion was missed by Hughes.

The visitors continued to apply pressure and twice came close to scoring a third try.

Harlow scored a penalty through

Humphries when Walden were caught going off their feet at a ruck, reducing the gap to 18-21.

This set up a close and pulsating last quarter of the match.

Harlow nearly scored in the corner when their backs gained an overlap but despite stretching, Rob Mackie was just inches short of the try line.

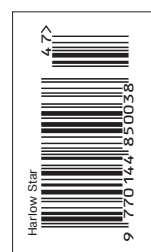

With three minutes left, Harlow skipper Paul Eynon raced through from the halfway line but was denied a try by a superb tackle from Paul Marshall when just 2m from the line.

"We had led pretty much up until half-time. We were unable to break their line," Eynon added.

HARLOW: Webb, Wilkins, Branch (McKinley 40), Twiner (Roberts 65), Barnard, Hawkins, Covington, Eynon, Harron, McFerran, Webb (Howard 50), Vanbeck, Humphries, Grimley, Mackie.
